Purchased a Farm.

Drs. H. R. and W. M. Gibson purchased Saturday from Mr. R. H. Brodhead, the Reuben Munday farm, containing 427 acres; price paid $7,000. This last addition to the farm and is considered one of the cheapest farms sold in Madison county for years.

Lecture.

Tomorrow night Rev. E. L. Powell will deliver his lecture, "Citizenship in the Republic," at the Grand Opera House. This will be one of the finest lectures of the season. Rev. Powell is a speaker of marked ability and is well known in the city. He comes under the auspices of the local lodge of Elks.

Officers For this Fall.

The following persons have been elected as officers of the Elks fair which will be held during the week of July 13, R. W. Miller, President; E. T. Tamm, Treasurer; and T. H. Collins, Secretary. To-morrow afternoon another meeting will be held at which the different committees will be named and the general work mapped out.

In Its New Home.

The Lexington Herald kept open house last Saturday, the occasion being the formal opening of its new home. The special edition of Sunday was a very attractive one, giving a history of the development of Lexington journalism and a description of the new building. The Herald has been making rapid strides during the past few years and the future seems bright for it.

Getting Ready for Work.

A corps of engineers began making a survey of the proposed right-of-way of the Blue Grass Consolidated Traction Company along the Lexington pike last week. A number of landowners, it is said, have agreed to donate the right-of-way through their farms. The railroad will probably be completed from Lexington to the river this summer.

Lost.

Lost on Saturday March 7, 1903, some place in city, a roll of bills containing about $200 mostly $5 and $10 bills and a few $20 bills had a $20 bill on outside with rubber around it. $10 reward for recovery of same or any information in regard to same will please report to.

Chief of Police.

Richmond People at Hot Springs.

There has been quite an exodus of Richmond people to Hot Springs during the past few days. Two parties left last week and another crowd started Sunday. Among those who left Sunday were Messrs. H. H. Colyer, John F. Wagers, Joe Bush, Charles Norris, S. W. Fite, Zeale Cobb, John Bronston, Murray Smith, Dock Johnson and Irvine White.

Public Sale.

I will offer for sale publicly, on the premises, on Lancaster avenue, at 2 p. m., on Wednesday, March 25, my residence, containing five rooms and hall. The lot is 7 1/2 feet front and 220 feet deep, with first-class stable and good garden. The property adjoins that of D. B. Shackelford and C. C. Wallace. Terms will be made known on day of sale. G. G. Gonzalez, T. D. Chennault, Auctioneer. ml8-2

Barbers Meet.

At a recent meeting of the Barbers Protective Association, several new members were added to the list. The object of this association is to adopt a uniform scale of prices and an agreed hour for closing. All the shops in town have adopted the same rules, except two small, one chair shops. The members of the association are: M. M. Dickerson, H. R. Tevis, Ed. Cornelson, T. B. Miller, C. F. Clay, B. F. Stone, Tevis Barber Shop.

The Last.

Mr. Ralph Parlette humorist, lectured last night at the Grand Opera House. This was the last of the course, under the able management of Messrs. Deatherage and Woods, and was thoroughly enjoyed by a good audience. The public feels very much indebted to the two gentlemen for having been instrumental in bringing so many fine attractions here. The whole course has been above the ordinary and regrets are heard on all sides that last night was the close.

Too Broadly Said.

The executive board of the Patti A. Clay Infirmary asked the Madison Fiscal Court for an appropriation of $1,200 this year, to care for the county patients. This was the amount approved for this year, but the board, however, the present court decided that there was too much for the coming year, and so cut the appropriation in half, making it $600. If this appropriation is accepted by the Infirmary board, it will be the best investment that this or any other county ever made. In speaking of the liberal appropriation made last May, the CLIMAX said that this was not a charity of the county was aiding, but a plain business proposition, an investment which gave liberal returns. Before the Infirmary was established, this work cost the county thousands of dollars. Since then it has cost practically nothing. The institution has been kept up by the good women of the city and county all these years and it has sometimes been a hard matter keep it going. It costs money to run an institution of this kind, and it costs more now than ever before. The cost of living is higher and the nurse's salaries are higher. Yet the benefit to the community is far greater than the cost. It is to be hoped that the magistrats will consider the matter in a business way, for to close the Infirmary now would be a calamity indeed.

Matrimonial.

BUTLER-ROBERTS.—Mr. Ernest Butler and Miss Nannie Rowlett, both of Calcutta, were married in this city Wednesday.

PORTWOOD-PENNER.—Walter Portwood and Miss Sallie Penner, both of Valley View, were married at the residence of Green Stocker last Wednesday.

NEWBY-CURRY.—Mr. Albert Newby, a prominent young farmer, and Miss Lucy Curry, daughter of the late Ole Curry, were married at the home of the bride, near Valley View, Thursday.

BLACK-MILLER.—The home of Mr. Alex. Black, of White Hall, was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday, when Miss Anna Black and Howard J. S. Miller, of Knox county, were united in marriage. The ceremony was witnessed by the relatives of the bride and groom and a few invited friends. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Black, is a most cultured and refined young lady. Her groom is the son of the Knox County Court and is one of the leading politicians of Eastern Kentucky. Immediately after the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for their home in Barboursville.

At Home Again.

Little George DeJarnett, who was operated on at Lexington several weeks ago, came home Saturday and is much improved. He is able to walk with ease and seems perfectly well.

In New Quarters.

On Monday Joe Giunchigliani began moving his stock to his new and commodious quarters on the corner Third and Main streets. Joe's family will also move from Lancaster avenue to the same building. Joe's stand is liked by young and old, and all wish him success in his new home.

Injured.

On last Saturday morning the L. & N. train which runs between Corbin and Jellico was wrecked at the crossing near Lexington. Several persons were injured. Conductor J. B. Douglas, Eminent Commander of the Richmond Commandery, Knights Templar, was injured. His many friends here will hope for his speedy recovery.

Burglar.

On last Saturday night while the family were at the opera house with the performance of King Cole, thieves broke into the residence of Mr. J. D. Dykes, on Third street, and managed to get away with several dollars in money and gold watch belonging to Mrs. Dykes. The police are looking for the burglar and will reward anyone who gives information leading to his capture.

A Big Success.

The first performance of King Cole occurred at the Grand Opera House on last Friday night. The house was filled with a most enthusiastic audience. Mr. Frank Root, of Louisville, played the title role and made quite a hit with his clever acting, his catchy songs and dances. The minut and cake walk indulged in by about twelve couples of young society people was highly pleasing. "O Mr. Moon," song choir and dance, led by Miss Margaret Dykes was especially fine. The costume was very striking. The entertainment was gotten up under the able management of Miss Kate Strauss, of Louisville, and the proceeds will go to the Patti A. Clay Infirmary. It is not known exactly how much was cleared but quite a neat sum.

The Four Mile Road.

The Madison Fiscal Court will convene again today, having adjourned last Friday on account of the illness of Judge N. B. Turpin. One of the most important questions before the court this week is in regard to the Four mile road. An appropriation will be asked for to macadamize 4 1/2 miles of this road from the city limits to the Nolands creek road. Surveyor S. Parrish has made a survey of the road, which he has submitted to the court. He says the road can be improved at a small cost, and when completed will be of great benefit to the county. The Four mile road is one of two dirt roads entering the city, the other being the Third street road. It runs from Irvine creek to a point just beyond Otter creek, where it forks, one road running to the mouth of Four miles, the other to the mouth of the Nolands creek road. It traverses a good section of the county most of the distance.

World Not Happy.

A Chicago dispatch on Monday says: With only six months to live, according to a physician's statement, William Evans decided on his wedding day not to marry the girl of his choice who then was waiting for him to appear at the residence of her parents where relatives and clergymen had assembled. The bride that was to have been Miss Zora Zimmer. Instead of appearing at his fiancée's house, Evans sent a friend to explain his motives. He said that he had not time to go to her house for some time and on the day before he was to have been married he consulted a physician who told him that he had consumption and would not live more than six months. He said that he was going away in hopes of regaining his health and he succeeded would return for his bride.

Mr. Evans is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Evans, of Bradford, and is well known in this country. He left here several years ago to engage in the railroad business and rose rapidly in his profession. The whole course has been above the ordinary and regrets are heard on all sides that last night was the close.

DEATHS.

OWENS.—John Owens, aged 22 years, son of David Owens, died at his home near Red House Monday, of typhoid fever. Burial yesterday in Richmond cemetery.

SMITH.—Mrs. James Smith died at her home near White Hall, Sunday, after a lingering illness of consumption. Mrs. Smith was a native of Knox county, and was about forty-five years of age. Besides her husband, she leaves many relatives in this county who mourn her loss. The remains were taken to Barboursville for interment, Monday.

COYLE.—Mrs. Fannie Coyle died on Monday afternoon at her home on Second street, after an illness of less than a week. Just one week ago this afternoon she was stricken with paralysis and lingered until death came without ever regaining consciousness. Deceased was 73 years of age and was a type of noble, christian womanhood. Her burial took place yesterday afternoon at Flatwoods cemetery, with services at the grave. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Coyle and Mrs. James Fried, and several grand children.

PARKES.—After a short illness of pneumonia Mrs. Elizabeth B. Parkes died on Thursday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Watts, aged 89 years. Mrs. Parkes was a daughter of John Buford, a revolutionary soldier, who at the close of the war came to Kentucky to make his home. Mrs. Parkes was married early in life to John W. Parkes who was one of the leading farmers of the county. Deceased was a member of Madison county chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution. She was a true, devoted christian, a woman of rare intellect and conversational ability that made her a most charming companion. She is survived by five children: Mrs. W. W. Watts, Mrs. Fannie Smith, Mrs. Nannie Embury, Messrs. J. B. and John W. Parkes, of Paducah, Ky., and all of whom are well. LUXON.—Sunday evening, just as the shade of night began to gather, and the twilight hour reigned over all nature, a soul wended its way to the great beyond, and the sad news was sent out that Mrs. W. E. Luxon, 88, was dead. He had been a long but patient sufferer, his illness dating back for many months, and since the early part of December he had been confined to his bed. All that medical skill could advise and loving hands do were unable to stay the ravages of the disease, so until the end came, he bore his suffering with true christian fortitude. Deceased was born in 1835, on the Isle of Guernsey, England. When a mere child his parents removed to this country, locating at Lexington, Ky. When about twenty years old Mr. Luxon came to the mouth of Four miles, where he resided. In September, 1867, he was married to Miss Sallie Ballard, daughter of Capt. P. P. Ballard. For years Mr. Luxon conducted a restaurant on Main street in the store room now occupied by Covington & Banks, but for several years past he devoted himself to farming. He was quiet and unassuming in his manner. He was a devoted and affectionate husband, a kind, indulgent father, and a friend as true as steel. Besides his wife he is survived by four children: Mrs. C. G. Wallace, Messrs. B. H. and W. E. Luxon, Jr., and Mrs. R. L. French. All of these tenderest and deepest sympathy of hosts of friends is extended. The funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at two o'clock at the residence by Rev. Hugh McCallister, at which his remains were interred in the Richmond Cemetery. In his death the community has lost an upright,
